

Following Your Favorite Channels on YouTube.

Instructions

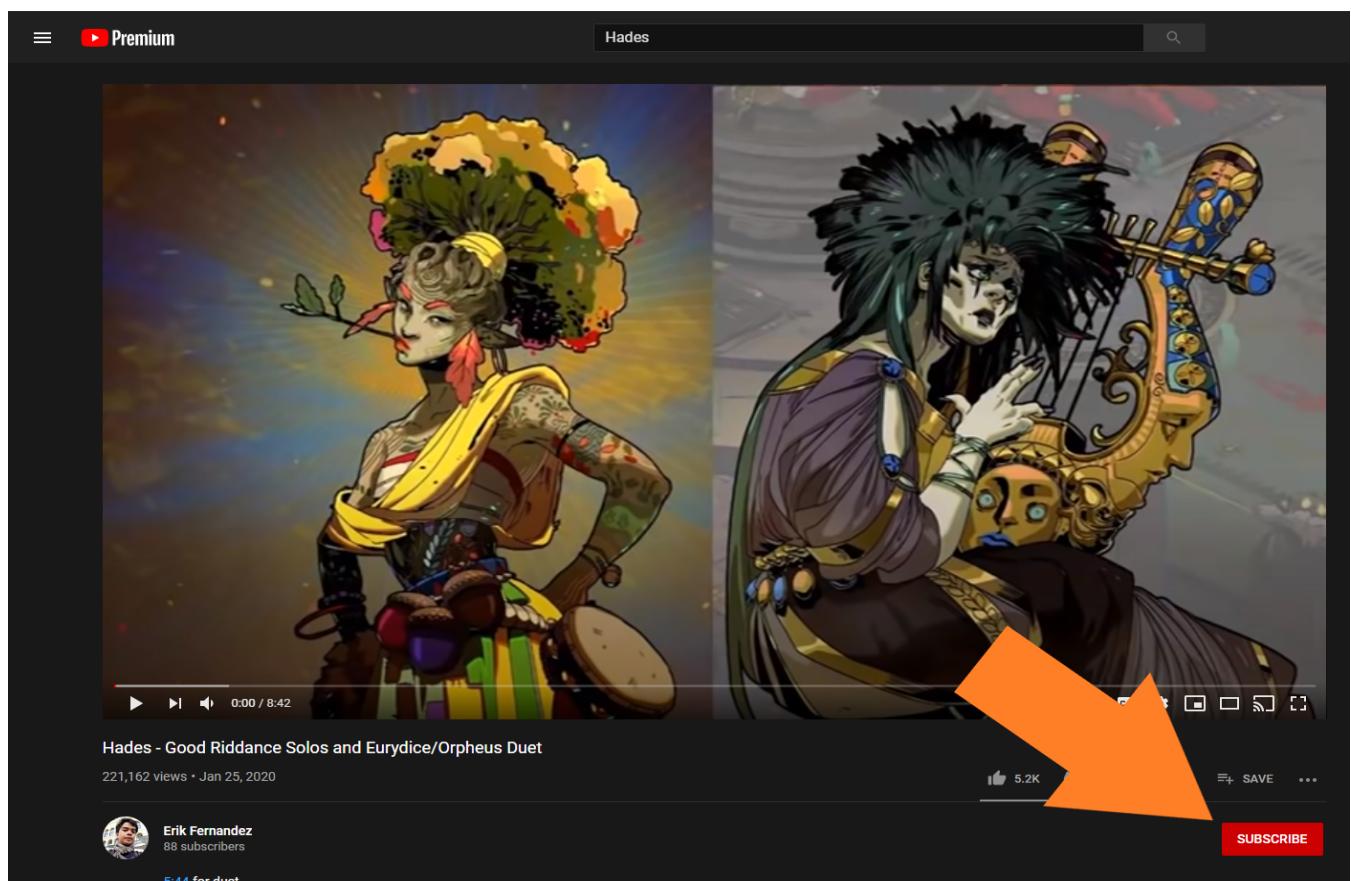

YouTube is a platform that has a lot of content on it. From videos about cooking to rocket science, from video games to sports. If you can think of it there is probably a video of it on YouTube. Chances are when you are looking for videos to watch, you will stumble upon a channel that creates content that you enjoy and would like to watch in the future. In this guide, I will discuss how to subscribe to a channel. This is one way to make sure you can find that channel again, and even be notified when that channel uploads a new video.

1) How to Subscribe

Step 1) Navigate to YouTube (YouTube.com).

Step 2) Click on a video you want to watch.

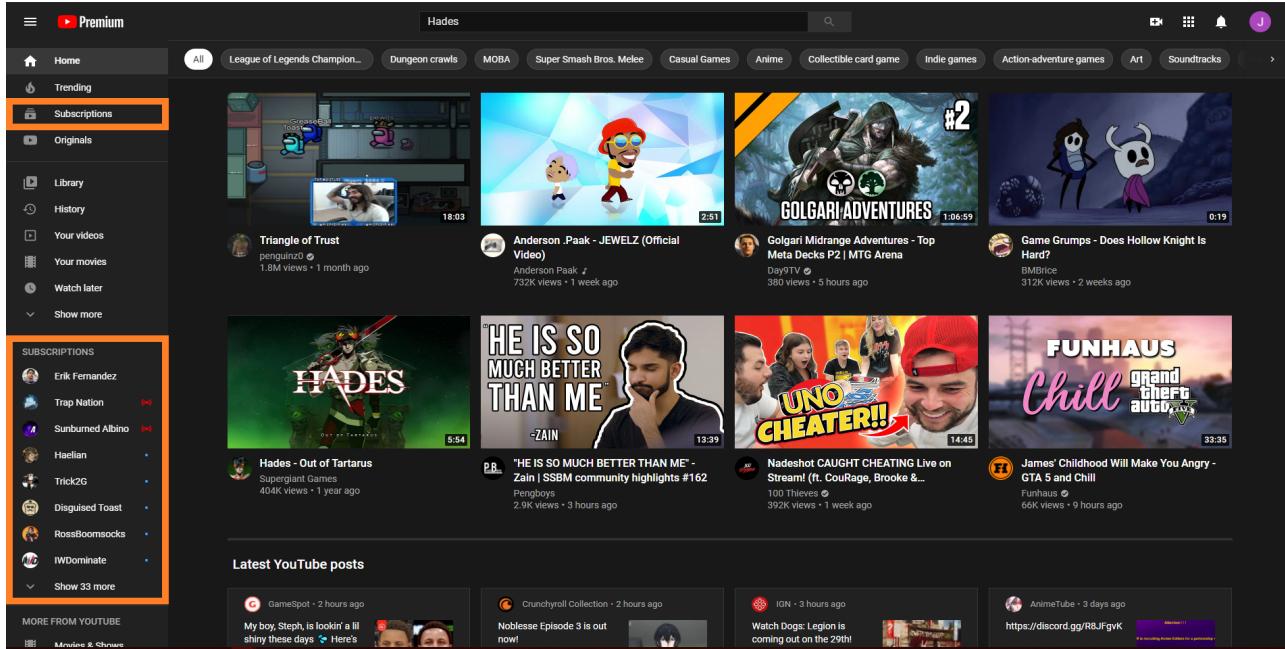

Step 3) if you like the video and want to watch videos from that channel in the future, click the red subscribe button below the video. See Arrow in figure 1.

2) Find the channels you have Subscribed to.

Now when you go back to the home screen, there are two areas you can click on to find the channels you have subscribed to, see figure 2.1.

(Figure 2.1)

Clicking the top orange rectangle in figure 2.1, with the word “Subscriptions” in it will take you to a list of all the videos your subscribed channels have posted. Which is figure 2.2.

(Figure 2.2)

Now if you go to the bottom rectangle in Figure 2.1, you will see a list labeled Subscriptions. This list provides easy access to all the channels you are subscribed to. If you click on one of the channels, it will take you to that channels page which has all of the videos that the channel has uploaded on it.

3) You're Subscribed!

Now that you know how to subscribe to a channel and where to locate those channels post-subscription, you can easily follow and access your favorite channels with only a few clicks of your mouse.
